THE UNITED NATIONS

We, the staff of the June Courier, 1944, have chosen as the theme of our book, the United Nations.

The United Nations are fighting to suppress the Axis and maintain throughout the world life lived under the four freedoms. They have pledged to work as one, towards a common goal, and have seen the need for unity and coordination.

For generations the students in the schools of our nation have worked together, stood side by side, have created lasting friendships. Long have they been living under these ideals that the United Nations are today fighting for.

Because of the similarity of aims in our schools to those of these fighting countries, we selected the United Nations as a fitting theme for our books. The spirit is to be found in this semester's publication in the clubs, photographs, the poems, the articles, stories, art work, and in the support given us by the division rooms.

OUR THANKS

The Courier Staff, always dependent on the cooperation and support received from the faculty and the student body, feels the need to express its appreciation now, more than ever, in this time of confusion, priorities, and shortages.

We'd like to express our very deepest gratitude to Mr. Boyd, Mr. Dasher, Mr. Wagenman, Mr. Dean, Mr. Fristoe, Mr. Sander, and Miss Gallagher for the invaluable aid extended us.

We are deeply indebted to Mrs. Moroni, Miss Stevenson, and Miss Wright at Mt. Vernon, to Miss Change at Burnside, and Mrs. Myers at Curtis. The branch section was very dependent on their unstinting assistance.

The faculty has a permanent place in our hearts for their understanding and help at any time. Too, we would like to thank the office staff who have aided us much. Particularly, we are grateful to Miss Lundquist, Mr. Zinngrabe, Miss Meinhardt, and Mr. Beals for their very special work in producing this year's Courier.

We hope that the student body will be repaid for its generosity by having another fine book to add to its collection.

We are very grateful to our division and class teachers for their leniency when Courier business has made it necessary for us to be absent. Thank you so much. Mr. Brown, Miss DeHaan, Miss Blachly, and Mr. Koedyker, our counselors, deserve a word of thanks for always being near with a willing hand.

The community and the local papers have been grand to us, and we want them to know that we greatly appreciate their consideration.

We wish to put into words our heartfelt gratitude to Miss Robinson. Without her untiring and zealous efforts in our behalf, her guidance and understanding, this book would never have been made possible.

Here we have thanked just a few of the many who have aided us. So to those few and the many, may we say, very sincerely, thank you one and all.

COMRADES

Polish, English, German, or Swede, all in this world have found their need.
Frenchman, Italians, Russian, or Jew. we're here with one big job to do.
Here at school we've shown the way, as together we work, and plan, and play.
In Latin, math and general science. We've welded firm our school's alliance,
Of race or creed, we did not heed, but rather how we did the deed.
Some scholastic honors sought while others fame and glory wrought,
For each his upward path did hew, finding things
both strange and new.
Now we've scrambled to the summit, Seniors all, we've finally done it.
Let all the nation, foe and friend, work as we for a common end,
Friends and comrades, evermore, we the class of '44.

FURLOUGHS

There isn't anyone who doesn't look forward with an anxious heart to that long desired vacation; but there is none who plans more carefully, goes over more thoroughly every minute of it, and looks forward to that long awaited and usually belated furlough than does one in the service. For to him it means home, where he can take up the little things to which he had never given much consideration. Oh! how he's missed the little, simple things of life that before seemed to have only been taken for granted. The soft bed to which he turned every night; the green grass and flowers, which used to be just his back yard, suddenly have a new and beautiful significance. Yes, you've planned gay and exciting times for those few precious days, but these plans seem so utterly unimportant now. You find your greatest pleasures at home where you can have a good old talk with Dad, and probably box a game with that kid brother of yours, to whom you have become the hero of the hour.

But the days slip by almost as fast as the leaves turn brown in the fall and drop from the trees

SOLO FLIGHT

You joke and kid before you start,
But all at once you don't feel smart.
You walk to the plane and move to get in;
Your knees, they shake, but you manage a grin.
The instructor says, "Just once around,"
"Once," you think, "I but hope I get down."

You're off the ground and up in the blue;
Such a wonderful feeling you never knew.
You circle the field and prepare to land.
All of a sudden you hear a command.
"Pull back on that stick, you dumb wack,"
'Tis teacher's voice with the same old crack.

You're down at last; how, you don't know,
The instructor walks out with his face aglow.
"How do you feel now, Skylark?" said he .
"Who? Me? Weak, but congratulate me."
You've soloed, you've soloed! and are you proud,
As you walk back and join the crowd.

FENGER FADS

As March comes in like a lion and goes out like a lamb, so do the fads at Fenger. The present day fads are a big headache to some and to others the basis of individuality. Fenger's imagination is always working. We have the slack fad, which took away from Junior, that up and coming freshman, his right to boast that he was wearing his first long pants, as he remembers Sister got hers a couple of years before.

Glancing down a classroom aisle one may notice a teen-age girl with freshly scrubbed "saddles," turned up at the toes like a Dutch girl's cap, plaid shoe laces, white sloppy sweat socks, and a dog-collar decorating the ankle. This smooth gal considers herself "plenty potent" because her foot gear is No. 1 on the fashion parade.

Next Sad Sam insists on leaving his clumsy L'il Abner shoes sticking out in the aisles, only because he is top heavy. But this doesn't bother Sam because he just got a new checker-board wool shirt, and his "tweeds" have acquired that loose and baggy appearance. Sad Sam charms the girls with his newly acquired jive jargon. And do all the fellows take notice of Sam's smoothness! They begin wearing technicolor bow-ties, have the barber give them a special one-inch crew cut, and even begin to imitate his walk.

The Sweet Sues are not to be forgotten either, for they load their wrists and necks with every piece of junk jewelry they can carry and decorate their sweaters or their dish-pan grey sweat-shirts with ghostly images of head-hunters, totem poles, and winged horses. Big and small perky bows are considered plenty sharp, but nothing compares with the spring contests of seeing how many autographs one can get on his "jeep coat."

DAYS OF OUR YOUTH

There is great joy in the days of youth,
Or so the sayings run;
But in our times when all is war,
There is a ban on fun.

TO THE 4B'S

The approach to the final semester of our high school education is like reaching the final chapter in a novel. During the first seven semesters we have endeavored to uphold the fine characteristics of those who have gone before us. We now look back; and as thoughts of the past seep into the pages of our nearly completed story, we begin to cherish all the ideas, happiness, and friends we have made in preceding semester.

I wish to thank each one of my classmates for giving me the honor and privilege of being the senior class president. I know that together we can close the pages of our novel, feeling that we have reached a goal on which we can look back and be proud.

—Don Jones, 4B,
Class President

FENGERITES CAN'T LOSE!

In one more semester we, the 4B's, shall be leaving. Oh, yes, the few who "dislike school" will immediately say, "Hurray!"

But do they dislike school? Or do they just dislike their history lesson or English topic? You see, school is more than that—anyway, Fenger is. Fenger means exciting football games, the Courier, and Fenger News, and, most important, top-rate friends. Who could part without feeling that something great has passed.

Yesterday is gone. Today we are 4B's. Tomorrow we must choose our course and follow it. There will be storms and reefs, but we must keep in mind that our classmates are overcoming difficulties also. Fengerites can't lose!

—Jack Borger, 4B,
Vice-President

WE, THE 4B'S

As freshmen, we looked at the four years ahead of us as long and toilsome, but now, as 4B's, they have seemed only too short. For most of us these years hold many happy memories. We have attained high scholastic standards, athletic abilities, many lasting friendships, and we also have learned how to play the game fair and square.

We have one of the finest classes ever to graduate from Fenger, and we are going to make it still finer in the coming semester. We have come to know each other through the years; the cooperation and dependability of every one of us is grand. So let's go places and do things, 4B's!

—Lorraine Gardner, 4B
Class Secretary

LOOKING AHEAD

Now that the time is drawing near for our graduation, we stop to wonder where it has really gone. We are entering our last semester in High School, the destination of our Freshman year. We have, in that one semester, to accomplish those ideals we set for ourselves long ago.

In this world of such turmoil, students are wondering, more than ever, what the future holds for them. The 4B's hope that their world of tomorrow will bring the seniors of past years home to peacefulness where all young people may work together toward building their country into an even greater nation.

I want to thank the room presidents for their cooperation in collecting the class dues.

STORMS

Storms seem to bother some people, but as for me they furnish a chance to sit and read, rest, and reminisce. It is a restful feeling to hear the quiet, steady falling of rain; even the jagged flashes of lightning and the low rumble of thunder seem soothing. To sit in front of the fireplace and to hear the crackling of the flames and feel their warmth, bring a feeling of quiet peace. And the strong, wild wind blowing through the trees gives me a feeling of serenity and happiness in my own warm home.

A storm means not only time for rest and quiet, but also a chance to walk in an old raincoat and rubbers, to feel the cool drops splashing on one's face and wilful wind blowing through one's hair.

A storm is really enjoyable. After all, there are so many sunny, delightful days that to me a storm now and then makes a beautiful day, too.

OUR DAYS

The activities of our days, as most of us see them, are limited by the war. We sit and dream of the beautiful days of past summers when we could whizz out into the country for a day of pleasure. Now those long awaited days will be spent near home or as far as a bicycle or our two feet will take us. Too, there is that yearning for the unforgetable steak dinners, for which today's substitution is a dish of Wheaties which, we are told, is just as good, or almost, anyway.

We probably don't understand half of what is going on around us. This world, with its great battles, its millions of casualties, its chaos everywhere, is far different from the calm and peaceful days of a few years back. We just can't seem to get accustomed to having someone tell us what we can do, eat, or buy. This domination gives many people the impression that America is no longer a free nation.

Grunts and groans are heard in various places

when that particular day comes around when all good Americans empty their pockets for Uncle Sam, not realizing or stopping to think about where their money goes and the good that is really derived from it.

Of course, there are many different types of people with different ideas as to how this world should be run. Then there are those who would rather just sit and "watch the world go by", letting someone else do the job of giving time, money, and life, to satisfy those with that devil-may-care attitude. Nevertheless, there is a very small percentage of these people compared with those who willingly give their time and money to war-time activities.

We may consider ourselves very lucky to be here instead of over there.

—Jacqueline Schmied, 4B

IN OUR TIME

In our time, hate is consuming hate, and life is destroying life. Weapons prepare the way for more weapons; conquerors come with more conquerors. Our time is now, but our time has rolled from ages unending to a culmination in our war now. Today's war will build pathways to more war, to more disastrous war, or a peace the world has never known.

In our time, hate is rampant; we hate the ways of the enemies, of our allies, the ways of chaos and destruction; and at the same time we hate the way we must stoop to fight with those who are our enemies.

In our time, life, that elusive quality that makes us able to exist above the sod and stones, is ruthlessly destroyed, trampled beneath a conqueror's foot or blazed out in a hero's death to meet the same end and the same beginning.

In our time, weapon meets weapon for the possession of fields of shifting, blowing, rolling sand and stubble fields of burned grain. The weapons—implements of science, made for the good of humanity—are used by friend and foe alike to torture innocent people and nations, to make war for good or for evil.

In our time, conqueror meets conqueror. The defeated conquerors meet those they can defeat; and those, defeated by defeated conquerors, pay the price of blood and sacrifice for their conquered conquerors. The defeated of the defeated die and the conquerors die, yet the defeated live and the conquerors die.

In our time is peace rebuilding peace, joy creating joy. Rebuilding prepares the way for a better life; confidence restores strength. Peacemakers prepare the way for greater peace, and happiness creates a new world. In our time life is good, not for what is, but for the hope of what will be.

FURLOUGHS

"Dear Mom and Dad:

"I will be home very shortly. The commander at our camp said in about two more weeks now. Home! Just think, Mom, I can be eating your apple pies again. I can help Dad with his victory garden if my time permits. . . ."

The time drags by. Every day is counted. The weeks go. The day finally comes. His mother and family are waiting with open arms for him at the station. Sam has come. Ah, but it is great to see that boy again! He seems to be older in his way, though. So Sam spent his first evening at home telling of his experiences and training.

The next day comes; Sam sleeps till 11:30 a. m.; gets up; has his breakfast; and dashes out to see his friends. He is gone all day, but comes back for dinner, then is gone again. Every day is spent like that till his furlough is over. Now Sam begins to realize he hasn't eaten any of those apple pies Mom made for him, due to his hurry to get out again. Also Dad has his victory garden finished without Sam's help.

Well, Sam's furlough is over. The light hearts have turned heavy. His poor mother and father haven't seen much of him while he's been here. But what can you expect from a fellow who hasn't been home for one year and a half? His mother and father can say, "At last Sam was home on furlough; and from what we saw of him, he surely looked great!"

PRESENTING THE 3A's

Past Couriers have asked, "What do you like or dislike doing?" That's all right, but we decided it would be different to ask the 3A's to tell us something about their friend's pleasures and disgusts. Here are some of the things we found out.

After questioning these very willing gossips, we learned some of their personal pleasures and comforts. Alice Osborne is a would-be "Sleepy Time Gal"; maybe not in the blue of evening but in sleeping away the hours until noon. Betty Skyles is prejudiced in favor of long summer days snoozing under a shady tree. Ronald Young likes to slumber on days when "rain doth fall." In the eyes of Helen Gloss it is strictly okay to buy her a malted milk cashew nut float. Also to make an impression on Florence Pridijan, buy her a bottle of Pink Clover Cologne. Marie Maladra is overjoyed when she finds a spot to use the words "corpus delecti" or "irrelevant" in conversation. George Jessen is always trying to make people happy and usually succeeds. Joan Isherwood and

THE HAMBURGER

What are the mysterious pads of so-called meat
Which, when one is hungry, are good to eat.
They are put in a pan and turned 'til done
Then slapped between a week-old bun.
Some are ground from the old gray mare
Including chunks of hide and hair.
Some are made from an old tough steer,
Best chased down with a mug of beer.
They used to cost but only a nickel
Smothered with onion and ground-up pickle.
You can cover them up with catsup on top,
Then wash them down with a bottle of "pop".
What some are made of is quite a question,
For oftentimes they cause indigestion.

TRUSTING A FORTUNE TELLER

Delores Magnabosco are advocates, too, of the "always be happy" theory.

Along possible entertainment lines we discovered a few interesting facts. One may see Bob Koch and Minnie Guizzetti in their spare time watching people mill by in a big department store. That's their hobby. If one can't find Lois Warner, trot over to any garden supply and seed store where she will be found inspecting trowels and shovels because weeding the garden is her favorite pastime. Cornelia Lodewegin gets a thrill from reading the works of the Brontè sisters, while Helen Jacus prefers Mary Roberts Rinehart and all good murder mysteries. Theresa Zube is satisfied when she is treated to a good mystery reel. Marilyn Dunham thinks rip snortin' Western movies are tops. Donald Brown is prejudiced in favor of adventure films featuring Jon Hall. Ruth Sinkus is thrilled by movies that feature the grace and agility of the ballet and operatic music. Marion Luecht loves to swim but Shirley Cochetti hates wet hair. Lucille Dreznes is an ardent basketball fan, but Jean Barce prefers watching football games. Betty Grey enjoys playing a speedy game of volleyball any time. Marge Groboski, John Shimkus, Jim Derrico and Don Evers are quoted as saying, "Sinatra doesn't have any effect on us." They wish he would get over his case of laryngitis. Since we are on the subject of Sinatra, we heard that Evelyn Moffet, Marion Horvath, George McCann and Doris Baile would come to Sinatra's defense as quick as lightning and louder than thunder any time. Ted Sweeney is an adventure-loving type. He can be seen impersonating "Flattop" in a breath-taking contest of "cops and robbers." Guilio Favario is usually found at the comic book display since he likes those that feature "The Lone Ranger." Harry Hawkins and Lorraine Jacobson are faithful followers of "Jack Armstrong, the All American Boy" every evening.

PROMPTNESS

That "the early bird gets the worm" is the theme on which one must base the disagreeable thought of promptness. For there must be some sort of a reward for being on time even if it is only a worm. One must realize that promptness is a thankless characteristic. Almost anyone who is usually on time will testify to this, for he always finds that he either is early and the person he is to meet is very late, or that he arrives on time but his acquaintance has arrived very, very early, and so he appears to be late. It is all very confusing, considering the uncertainties of a person being late or early. There is only one thing to do, and that is not to make dates with definite times set for the meeting because it will only result in a mix-up which may dissolve a very grand and beautiful friendship.

—Alice Osborn, 3A

LUCK

Some people don't believe in luck; some people do. I do. Many, many times American soldiers have been saved by sheer luck. Some have been saved by a steel-covered Bible in their breast pocket. Some have been saved by a belt buckle. Others have been saved by a hunch.

If I didn't believe in luck, I would do so pretty soon if one of those harrowing experiences had happened to me. Imagine you are a tank driver. You come to a fork in the road and you have a hunch that possibly there is a mine buried in the right fork so you take the left one. Someone else takes the right fork and he is blown to bits. Maybe you wouldn't call that luck? No? Well, pretend you're the pilot of a bomber. You're cruising along at night with two other ships, and you think maybe there's a mountain in front of you. You tell the other ships' crews, and they just laugh saying that

FENGER'S FOOLISH FADS

The cutest little blonde came to school one morning in big brother's old gray sweat shirt. Immediately the "copy" girls got busy and dug up shirts resembling old dust-cloths. The fact was that the little blonde would probably look good in anything, but it took the copy-cats a full month to find it out.

One of our brunettes decided to sprinkle a few daisies in her braids. The next day the school looked like a hothouse in full bloom. The girls must have fed their posies special vitamins 'cause they looked like heads of cabbage. Maybe Carman Miranda can get away with it, but evidently adolescence can't.

All girls seem to adore the fellows' wearing apparel—why? Ninety-nine per cent of the time they remind you of poor little orphans who have no clothes of their own and have to wear some great big, burly person's old left-overs. I'm referring to the plaid shirts, that make you dubious about the girl wearing a skirt, the suit coats that make you sure the poor thing has no hands, and "bro's" socks reminding you of a clothespin in a bag. Come on, girls, let the fellows have their own clothes, and try wearing some of your own.

To continue our gleanings upon less agreeable topics we heard that Marion Helstrom becomes thoroughly disgusted at those radio commercials, suggesting one must use super vitality tonic and live to be one hundred. Bert Lindberg tears his hair if he is compelled to listen to the daily soap operas. Carl Paron can't see why people push and shove ahead of everybody as trolleys come their way. Lottie Allen can't understand why streetcar conductors become grouchy when asked directions. Marvin Sprattling thinks it is strictly a horror feature the way girls fuss over the hang of their skirts and other trivial items. Phil Den Besten is allergic to "clinging vines." If you ever see Rodger McDill with a long face, you can rest assured someone has broken a date with him. Bill Nork and Kenneth Stevenson will become angry if they are offered competition where two titian-haired girls are concerned. To raise the ire of Adonis Negri call him "Russian." He wouldn't mind the name if they would tell him why they call him "Russian." Tom Matheson hates the idea of a boring lunch period. To counteract this he spends much of his time listening to and reading comic stories and jokes. James Bamrick finds a point for argument if he must prepare an oral topic. Mary Jane Meade is fit to be tied when long assignments come her way on Friday night. Doris Johnson is plagued if she is supposed to act interested in a movie featuring Charles Boyer. Lauranne Anderson finds little interest in the study of biology.

Now as we leave the 3A's, we want to thank them for their cooperation in supplying this information.

PIDGIN ENGLISH

Some people seem to think this younger generation's jive talk is confusing. But have you ever tried saying some of these simple Chinese words, "Toh," "to," "tó"? They all seem to sound the same, but that is only because we can't pronounce them correctly. Because this language is so hard to learn, it is usually only the missionaries and men in the Consular Service who take the trouble to study it. "Pidgin English" is the queer language used by the others who have to speak much with Chinese, who do not know English.

From my reading on the subject of China, I gathered these choice bits of this lingo: "Number one top-side joss-pidgin man" is a Bishop. Fever might be expressed as "B'long inside too muchee hot." If you heard a lady call to her servant, "Go top-side catchee one piecee handkerchief," you would know she wanted her handkerchief brought downstairs. But you might be puzzled by a man giving orders to a Chinese carpenter after showing him a picture of a desk.

"Wanchee table, all same so fashion, makee chop. Number one good wood. S'pose brown no have got, white can do. B'long top-side leather. Too muchee bobbely, no wanchee. Done finishee chop-chop! Savy?"

This means, "I want you to make me a table like the one in the picture. No need to copy the maker's name. Best wood. If you have no brown, white will do. Leather top. I don't want much ornamentation. Finish it soon. Do you understand?"

Simple, isn't it?

"CHATTING WITH THE 3B'S"

What is this, a meeting of Thomas Edison, Robert Fulton, Samuel Morse, and Alexander Bell? No, it's just a meeting of the 3B Inventors' Committee. The question under discussion today is, "What would be the best way to construct our school desks?" Don Johnson moves that the desks have seat cushions and padded arm rest. Agreeing with Don are Etelle Zander, Opal Calhoun, Eleanor Smith, Margaret Barwegan, Marie Gordon, Shirley Roeda, Edith Peterson, Peter Rot, and George Jaques. Marilyn Dunham suggests having the desks built at an angle to promote better posture. Ray Hanz believes that the desks should be made of plastic, as Mary Alice Roberts states that then you could see through them (maybe this would prevent people from sticking gum under the desks). Seconding this motion are Bill Frere and Bill Bauer. "Let's construct the desks with a place to put our books," says Ruth Baringer. "That would be super," agrees Art Frangella, John Smith, Lenora Griffin, Rudy Hoenig, Dorthea Maxey, Marilyn Bovenkerk, Paul Hoskinson, and Willie Denson—"We always have trouble trying to find a place to put our books." Jake Perslo believes that each desk should have its own equipment. For example, the math desks should have math equipment. (Are you always forgetting to bring your compass to geometry, too, Jake?) "It would be nice to have a built-in radio so that I could listen to the daytime serials," says Naomi Brogan. It would be unique, especially in study halls, with five or six stories on at the same time. Our most elaborate suggestion comes from Dean Matthews, who wants a built-in typewriter, a radio, a television set, and desks made of chromium with a coverall blotter, a Parker pen and pencil set with each desk, and seats made of leather. In contrast we have Jean Biga, Robert Rolla, Andrew DeVries, Charles Norby, and Jim Ryan, who like the desks just as they are.

Someone in the last row sighs, "I wish you inventors would invent a perfect date." "All that it takes to make a date perfect for us," says Vera Johnson and Mary Klyn, "is for a certain serviceman to come home on leave." Going out with a crowd of "kids" seems to suit Margaret Shourek, Betty Gustafson, and Stephanie Dichon better. They want to avoid a gruesome twosome. Jean Brau wants the day to be complete with a radio broadcast, dinner at a nice restaurant downtown, then to watch her favorite team, the Blackhawks, play. The old standby of a show and dinner afterwards appeals to many of our 3B's, including Lucille Stacklick, Robert Smith, Edward Wilson, and Arlene Olson. Ida Roy feels sure that many Fengerites will echo her sentiments that the perfect way to spend an evening is dancing with a special someone, and then to have a light snack afterwards. Perhaps it is the parental influence, for the majority of our 3B's agree with Dorothy Gibbons, Donald Lyons, and Marilyn Braun, who believe that it's best to start out early so that you can get home early. Adds Donna Finney, "This way you will be fresh and wide awake the next morning." Athletic minded Robert Carlson thinks playing football, baseball or basketball for a few hours and cooling off with a refreshing swim is the perfect way to spend an evening. (A little strenuous, isn't it, Bob?) Betty Ohlsson sums up our discussion by this statement which applies to us all, "My idea of a perfect date is to go out and have a reasonable amount of fun and come home feeling happy and glad to have gone."

As conversations will change, ours changes to famous people. "You know, if I could be any famous person, I would like to be Bob Hope, because he has lots of friends," says Jack Lackrey. "Oh, we disagree with you," exclaims Betty Inge Bretsen, Dolores Favre, Ann Raptzian, Catherine Binter, Rose Schooley, Viola Vaitulones, and Dorothy Kammels: "Bette Davis is our choice—she really has personality and acting ability." But Steve Kluchenek, Janis Grazbarek, LaJoy Harkness, and Robert Trembley come back with "Look at what a fine job Bob is doing entertaining all the service men." Our athletic minded group, composed of Vilma Brazzale, Jeanette Duvey, Lorraine Bednarczyk, Katherine Napoli, and Helen Meitz, all agree that to be able to skate as only

Sharing this opinion are Ethel Brass, Mary Dalba, Sophie Markunas, Margaret Akai, Dorothy Hast, and Mary Wilson. The world's most famous woman is admired by Elaine Fraley, Shirley Shultz, and Betty Houstrup, who would like to have Mme. Chiang Kai Shek's understanding of world affairs. Harry James also has his fanfare from those who believe his contribution to the world through music is an important one. As Robert Anderson and his "Croonies," Leonard Kruzenga, Morris Morkado, Bob Johnson, and Donald Petrasek exclaim, "He really makes that music come out." PROPOSALS OF THE ORIENT

Romance in China is greatly different from that in America. Imagine what American girls would do if they were unable to see or talk to the man who is proposing marriage. That, however, is just what happens in China. There a girl is married for the prosperity of her family and not for her own happiness. In the Orient the people believe marriage is not a relation for the pleasure, but a contract involving the ancestors, the descendants, and the property.

From the moment a girl is old enough her parents are continually on the watch for a suitable husband for their daughter. In some cases where there is more than one prospect and the qualities of the men do not outweigh one another, the names and records of their year, month, day, and hour of birth are placed on small red cards, somewhat like our invitations. From these the girl chooses one. The man whose card she picks is then informed of her choice and that his marriage card along with hers is lying on the altar of her home. For three days it remains there. If peace and contentment reigns in both households during this time it is considered a good omen from the gods.

Gifts begin to arrive from the future husband's family to the bride. In return the bride's family sends small gifts to the family of the groom. The betrothal gift that they use instead of a diamond ring is a bracelet. In the case of rich families the bracelet is made of gold and set with rubies.

I doubt if this form of winning a bride would last very long in America, even though it has lasted for centuries in the Orient.

PROMPTNESS

Oh, there I went again slipping on the ice with only five minutes to get there! As I tried to pick up myself and halfway succeeding, my feet gave way again. Finally succeeding, I rose, and, glancing at my lapel watch, I saw that I had only four and one-half minutes to go. Oh, why did I have to be so slow? Never again will I stay over at the park so long. I'm going to be on time the next time, I thought to myself. I had three blocks left, but whom did I have to run into while turning another corner? It was one of my mother's best friends. Of course, I had to be polite and listen for exactly two and one-half minutes to her prolonged one-sided conversation on her little darling, Albert. To me he was a spoiled brat. Finally, I smiled very nicely and quietly slipped away. Oh, what a relief to get away from her! Whoops, I almost slipped again, but trudging onwardly toward my destination, I finally arrived with one minute left as I ran up the stairs to the front door. Where did I leave my keys? Why did I decide to be late on this one special night? Promptness,

WAR

Perhaps he's on the battlefront,
'Midst bomb and bursting shell,
He has to hate and work and fight,
He and his men must kill.
The sky appears all red from battle;
The trenches red from blood;
And mangled bodies on the ground
Half covered up with mud.
He hates the job he has to do,
With these surroundings he must live,
While all his buddies known so long
Must their young bodies give.
So while he's over there afighting
In foreign fields or camps,
We, over here, can do our part,
By buying bonds and stamps.
To give him planes, and tanks and guns
To force the foe to flee,
That he may soon come home again
Into a world that's free.

TO MY MOTHER

Your never ending laughter, your never ceasing smiles,
The many times you helped me through weary, painful miles.
Cross words you never utter, from your lips of purest gold;
Unless I am deserving, never do you scold.

For me you always do provide, no matter what the cost,
And every night to Him you pray, my way will ne'er be lost.
Within my heart I'll always know, there ne'er could be another,
To whom I owe so very much than to my dearest mother.

DREAMS

I should like to go a-sailing
Across a deep blue sea
And find myself in a foreign land
With people different from me.

I should like to go to China
And hear their serious chant,
To see if I can talk their way,
'Tis fun to just say I can't.

Some day when I am older
My dreams will all come true.
I'll make a grand adventure
Of seeing things strange and new.

QUIZZIN' THE 2A's

At the previous meeting of the Palmer Park Discussion Club, the President suggested that we talk over suitable questions for future panel discussions. Bill Preikshat led the club in discussing the question "Which Courier advertisement do you like best?" Ralph Schneider and George Tackes thought "Compliments of a Friend" was the most informative. Eddie Zelvis showed quite a bit of interest in the laundry ads. Foods seemed to be a fascinating subject to Eleanor Pregl. Nancy Zimmerman gave a rather lengthy talk about the Teninga Insurance Company advertisement which she considers the best. Jane Ann Bakker said that she likes to get her many friends' signatures in her Courier, and she found that the Calumet Index ad allows for plenty space. When Donald Baer got up and remarked that he preferred the Funeral Home ads, Ann Lisowski, Celia Dracik, Dorothy

OUR FIGHTING ALLIES

The tired doughboys were fighting like mad,
Fighting for the freedom they once had.
Not one, but millions! were at hand,
Fighting hard for each foot of enemy land.

Americans, Chinese, English, Russians, fighting side by side,
Fighting for what thousands had already died.
All working together, pals from the start,
Neither race nor creed could make them part.

Every moment, every hour may mean the end—
Death! was lurking around that sinister bend.
But death from the ground or death from the skies
Doesn't bother these men, our fighting allies.

UNSUNG HEROES

A fighter comes in on the landing strip
Riddled from wingtip to wingtip.
The pilot is safe and sound,
But there's a sound of grinding metal as it strikes the ground.
There stands a lad making a routine check,
But there's a pity in his eyes as he looks at the wreck.

All the damages are corrected
And the plane is erected;
The pilot climbs in
And the prop begins idly to spin.
Full throttle, and she's off with a roar.
The plane climbs high and begins to soar.

The lad trudges off to check another mistake
He checks and double checks for the pilot's sake
For a pilot's welfare he is needed,
But most of the time unheeded.
He passed many rigid courses
Because he's a mechanics on the Ground Forces.

SUPERSTITIONS

Superstitions represent a phase in the history of thinking.

People have believed in superstitions ever since man lived in caves, but some of the following superstitions are still part of our daily life:

1. Spilling salt is a sign of a quarrel.
2. Bubbles in the tea cup or an itching skin means visitors.
3. A blister on the tongue means that you have told a lie.
4. When four persons in shaking hands cross hands, it means a wedding.
5. When your ears burn, someone is speaking of you.
6. When you have the cold shivers, someone is walking on the spot that will be your grave.
7. Stepping on the cracks of paving stones means that you will fail in your lessons.

The club members decided this question had many possibilities for discussion in the future. At this time Bob Arentz took the floor to present his question, "What South American custom would be hardest to get used to?" Bob in answering his own question was very emphatic. He wouldn't care for the weather as it's too hot. Joyce Kranenburg admitted she might be a little off the subject, but she said she couldn't get used to the way the South Americans answer the telephone. They don't say "Hello," they say "It's your nickel, speak." Dolores Przlorowski said she couldn't stand the open stoves made of bricks. "La Siesta" may be a very nice thing, but Anna Kane, Wanda Gloyes, Vernette Carlson, Jeanette Schrader and Bill Minkema stated they couldn't get used to sleeping at a time when they were used to being in school. Virginia Hurdle and Florence Kelliker disliked the ankle length skirts. Betty Vercolio wanted to stick to

SENSATIONS

My first date was a sensation I'll never forget. The whole thing seemed trivial in the beginning. But when it came time to go through with it, I had sort of a queer feeling. Never before did my feet respond so slowly. I arrived at the house, and well I remember standing there agonizing minutes before ringing the bell! After that the worst part would be over, so I thought. My knees seemed to resemble a plate of gelatine. The door opened with such startling abruptness that I'm afraid I looked as though I'd seen a ghost. A polite greeting reached my ears; and before I'd had time to think of a reply I'd been whisked into the living room and was in the process of removing my hat and coat.

The customary waiting for a girl to get ready followed; and the parents asked questions I should have been capable of answering, but words seemed to stick in my throat, needing extra-special effort to get them out. "She" appeared and we were off.

As we walked along I breathed a sigh of relief followed by a quick catch of breath, for coming down the street were some friends of mine. They knew I'd never taken anyone out before, and I was in doubt as to their attitude. However, their casual hello was all there was to it. Well, the evening passed. I swear I never spent a more miserable time in all my life.

After taking the girl home I went to bed, expecting to find peace. To my dismay Dad walked into my room with that questioning look on his face. I related the story to him. As I ended he remarked it had been that way when he took Mom out the first time. Thereby, I decided it hadn't been too bad after all.

VIEWS OF THE 2B'S

Now that spring has come and picnics are in "bloom," we find many Fengerites spending these sunny days at the Dunes. Let us listen in on a bit of conversation among the 2B's, who are discussing their likes and dislikes on various subjects.

Ronald Sinkus, Bob Carlson, Rose Dangelo, Carol Bergstrom, Bernard Trandel, Anita Clark, John Post, Joan Keaveney, Paul Balsan, Dorothy Zywicki, and Howard Hoekstra have named "The Swank" to be their favorite place of entertainment. Lois Kausonan prefers the "Swank," because so many of her friends can be found there. Dorothy Ashby enjoys the music, and Dale Johnson thinks the waltzes are super. Roy Loichinger likes to glide around the spacious floor with graceful steps. Sara Violente and Bertha Ballantine are especially fond of the "couple skates." Audrey Skelton, Henry Tysson, Evelyn Wojci, Norman Tuftedal and Beverly Bishop think that skating is an ideal pastime, and they never miss a party or any chance for the sport.

However, skating isn't the only entertainment of these 2B's. Janet Noble, Frances Johnson and Marilyn Brown rate Club Sahara as their favorite, while Bob Waller, John Hiaha, Earl Montgomery, Anne Zeigler and Joyce Johnson think the "Y" offers a gay old time any day.

Ruby Rademacher, Robert Steinberg, Johanna De Hamer, Carol Nomes, Jerry Bekrens, Richard Cosaro and Marian Anderson are a lively group who list bowling as an ideal sport, and they say the "Rosebowl" is solid. E. Freel is another who enjoys bowling, but he prefers the "Palace."

It seems that all we have heard the 2B's discuss are place where physical exercise is prevalent, but some of the 2B's go for movies. Leonard Vulcano, Harry Worley, Dolores Moline and Dallas Bury find the balcony at the State Theatre a very entertaining spot. James Kazluskas thinks that any spot on Michigan Avenue is amusing. A particular place that appeals to Ralph Helge is his girl's house. "Kensington Police Station has my curiosity aroused, since I have never been there," asserts Wesley Oomes. Walter Soroka, Lillian Casson and Ralph Hathaway aren't book worms, but they say that Fenger has such a variety of activities that it is their choice as most interesting place in Roseland.

Let's move along and hear more of what keeps the 2B's thriving.

Well, do tell, here are some of these 2B's who aren't discussing their social activities. They are telling of careers and favorite subjects which they think will carry them over the rough and tough spans of their lives. Ellen De Haan and Eileen Knoll have named Latin as their favorite subject, since nursing is the career that is foremost in their plans. Doris Nelson, Phyllis Loving and Jeanette Anderson could be looking forward to a private secretary's job, and E.B.T. is a favorite with them. Commercial geography is the subject that holds the minds of Nella De Vries, Hazel Hamby, Mavis Griffin and Catherine Bednarczyk. Flora Nesci and William Staley like geography because various customs, climate and foods interest them. Deana McPhillips, Virginia Rigoni, Ralph Rachik and Corinne Nelson say Spanish is their favorite; Sarah Violente would like to become a Spanish instructor. Violet Evans, Irene Stack and Len Castiglia enjoy songs sung in Spanish. Jeanette Schnoor likes swimming just because she likes to swim, and Alice Kittl feels so clean and refreshed after a good swim. Jackie Pirch, Mildred Juranas, Colleen Comitts and Eleanor Skripek think swimming makes their hair so lovely, especially when it gets

SPORTS DURING THE WAR

Sports such as baseball, football, hockey, basketball have been hindered very much by the loss of players to the service. Baseball has probably been hit most. Many players that have already retired are now returning to the major leagues. Many very young baseball players are now being signed by the baseball teams. Some teams now have only about twenty players on their teams. Football also has been hit hard. Their teams have been cut down many players; old players are coming back and very young players are coming to them. This same thing is going on in all sports. But the players in these sports keep the sport going.

STORMS

Zoom! Our dog ran under the bed and everybody's face had a frightened look on it. It was very dark outside, darker than it usually is at night. A flash of lightning flew across the room and then a bang of thunder shook the house. The rain came down in sheets. It was coming down harder by the minutes. My brother flew under the bed with the dog. They went in the darkest place under there. The water was about four inches high from the ground. The wind blew the door open and in came the rain. I ran to close it when a gust of wind came in and blew me back, but the second time I tried it, I managed to get it closed. Then the electricity went out, and we were in darkness. A little later we heard the fire engine coming down the street, and it stopped down by a home a few doors away. What happened was the lightning struck a tree in half, and it started to burn. The half that was burning fell on the house and it also started to burn. After five hours the storm had passed away. The electricity came on and out came the dog and my brother from under the bed. The dog's hair was standing on edge. My brother was white as a ghost. Why the storm was so bad is because we were on a vacation at a lake and the water draw the lightning. We were never so glad, as when it had ended. That was the first bad storm I saw and hope it will be the last.

FURLOUGHS

A furlough is like being in heaven to a soldier. The thought of home, the corner drugstore, the girl next door, a hot dog with all the trimmings, is exciting to him. He can hardly wait to get on his way. Military life, the bugler, and the sergeant are all bad dreams and he soon forgets them for the time being. Seeing his folks, sleeping until 11:00, having a piece of his mom's apple pie is all heaven, too. Then there comes the dates, joking with the neighbors, and telling his kid brother how he got his first stripe. A furlough in my opinion is the making up for lost time that has been spent at camp. Saying good-bye is pretty tough just as a fella is getting used to this kind of luxury. But military life once more becomes his daily routine and the thought of another furlough and remembering the last one, spurn him on . . . and so does the sergeant bless his heart.

GET UP!

With a crash and a clang, off goes the alarm,
But to sleep a while longer won't do any harm.
So the clock is quieted and back I go,
I won't sleep long, that's one thing I know.
With Boot's sharp bark, I open my eyes
And stare at the face of the clock in surprise.
Well, the rest you can guess; it was quarter to eight,
I was due at school; there was not time to wait.
Into school, through the hall, and to class I bounded
A moment before the second bell sounded.
With a crash and a clang, off goes the alarm,
So within an hour I'm on my way
Remembering that promptness will always pay.

CUSTOMS OF OUR ALLIES

In England, people drink their tea,
In France, the people say, "Oui, oui,"
Russians do that Russian dance,
Here we wear those "zoot suit" pants,
Hollanders raise beautiful tulips,
Southerners sit and drink mint juleps.
No matter how odd these all may seem,
They are the customs of these human beings.

You'd be surprised at how difficult it is to study an English book soaked in gravy. Do you have troubles, too, Stanley?

MY FIRST DAY AT FENGER

Gaily I walked toward Fenger, happy that at last I was to be a part of that school. As I stepped into the building, I gazed down the spacious halls, with crowds of happy boys and girls pushing their ways to their next classes.

When I entered the auditorium where the freshmen were assembling, my classmates and I looked with amazement at the beautifully decorated walls and a stage which was the largest I had ever seen in a school. The curtain was very pretty, with its shade of blue and a design in the center.

Pushing and crowding my way around trying to find my first class, I saw my classmates in the same predicament. That day was really exciting to me, but I soon got used to it, and I am very happy to be at Fenger, for I am enjoying every minute of it.

THE SOLDIER'S THOUGHTS

How! O how do we stand the heavy toils of war,
O how we wish the burdens were no more!
Bloodshed all over makes a cloud of red.
It makes a blanket for our boys who are dead.
The guns, their loud and awful roar, we hear,
And the hungry cry of the wolves is near.
The planes, yes, whose planes do we hear?
They dive down on us and we're stricken with fear.
Then we think of our loved ones dear.
Yes, we'll finish this fight so they'll have no fear.

ARMY NURSES

The nurses of our U. S. Army are doing great work. The other day I read a book on what the Army nurses went through when Pearl Harbor was bombed. One of the nurses tells that the Japs were so cruel that they bombed, on purpose, all the Army hospitals. The wounded men were being shipped into the hospitals by the dozens. One of the nurses tells of a Red Cross ambulance. While it came across a field to a hospital, a Jap bomber shot at it, killing five men. They said that so many men came in needing blood plasma that they didn't have enough for all of them and some died for lack of it. Besides the men, many nurses were killed. One doctor tells that once while he went out of the operating room to get some medicine, the operating room was bombed and all who were in it were killed. Many nurses were killed, but the Army Nurse Corps still lives and they are doing a good job.

NURSES IN THE BATTLE AREAS

About two months ago my sister-in-law received an interesting letter from her sister, who is an Army nurse, telling her how she helped her company establish a camp, and how she spent Christmas in the jungles of New Guinea. Some of the things mentioned in the letter will be of interest to us. The company of nurses persuaded the natives to build them some huts to sleep in, and to use as a protection for wounded men. After this was accomplished, they carved furniture out of pieces of wood they found lying around. The natives built beds to use in the hospital wards, and some for the nurses themselves.

It was about two days before Christmas when one of the nurses said, "Why don't we try to arrange some kind of entertainment for Christmas?" All the other nurses agreed to this plan. The next day the nurses looked around camp for some kind of shrubbery to serve as a Christmas tree. When they found something suitable, they picked some jungle berries and strung them to put on the tree. Other decorations used were colored paper, carved figures, and fruit. Christmas night, as all the nurses were off duty, they had a wonderful celebration. This just goes to show you how some people can make something out of practically nothing.

THE UNITED NATIONS FIGHT IN CASSINO

Our boys have been fighting in Cassino. They have had to undergo many attacks by the Germans, who held six strongholds. Among these were two hotels, a place known as "Yellow House," and the second the Ducal Palace.

Most of the fighting took place near the Continental Hotel, one of the German Army's other strong points. These six strong points were reached by an underground tunnel which was built for the purpose of storing wine in the 16th century. It leads to the Monte Cassino Abbey. The Todt, a German organization, went to Cassino and rebuilt it into a defensive system, from ten to sixty feet under ground. The other strong points were the famous Amphitheater, and the Coliseum, which were also reached by the tunnel.

In the meantime our allies are fighting to take over the rest of Cassino.

THE ARMY NURSE CORPS

The Army Nurse Corps is doing one of the greatest jobs it has ever done. The members have shown their courage and bravery, especially on the battlefronts of Corregidor and Bataan.

The nurses many times slept only a few hours each night, endlessly risking their lives to save others. They not only took care of American soldiers but also took care of the natives of the island. Many times a day they were forced to find shelter from the raiding Japs.

MT. VERNON INTERVIEWS

"All aboard for the hayrack ride," rang out the voice of our driver. Lorraine Bergstrom, Bob Hemeetma, and Betty Easoz, being very enthused, began to sing, arousing our gay spirits. After everyone had nestled down in the wagon, Loretta Wierster looked into the sky, saying, "This reminds me of the time I was lost. Boy, was I scared." Remembering their same experiences, Howard Beyer and Rich Massa agreed with her. Then laughingly Ann Cyzanek recalled the time she was home alone. "I heard a noise in the pantry and crept into the kitchen, only to find my kitten playing in a paper bag." Marion Harness then added her tale of woe: "Something furry brushed against me as I was walking along, and not wanting to find out what this 'monster' was, I ran. Imagine my surprise to find it was only a dog." Dolores Haussman, Ellen La Roche, and Matilda Kruizenga all chuckled at this. Then Roger Kerchner cut in, saying, "You should have seen me when I was delivering groceries one day. The door of the house opened, and I couldn't see anyone. I sure didn't doubt the 'Haunted House Tale.'" "What happened then?" interrupted Carol Sperry and June Zilis. "Well, my eyes finally focused, and I embarrassingly handed the lady her groceries."

"Let's get out and stretch," requested Joyce Maxey. "Swell, now we can get the kinks out of our backs," replied Richard Lenke, Roland Megiunis, John Ely, and Frank Bleck.

After we all piled out, Charles Zelensky shouted, "This looks like a scene from 'Treasure Island.'" "So it does," popped in Joyce Whitcomb, Tom Elliot, and Frances Darris. "Long John Silver was my favorite character in that novel," said Lorraine Bergstrom. "Mine, too," chimed in Frank Petkus, Rich Stinett, and Virginia Vatrevdt. "Not for me," said Pat Rasmusan. "Jim Hawkins caught my eye." As if to agree, Bob Dalenburg, Dorothy Carlson, and Ed Evans nodded their heads. "Doesn't the parrot get any consideration?" asked Charlene Boehn, Betty Holson, and Jean Bernadett. "Oh, sure, but take Captain Flint. Boy, he was a character," exclaimed Dolores Atchley. "Not to change the subject, kids, but look at the swell fire our driver made for us."

Our attention drawn to him, he spoke up. "Gather around while I tell you your horoscopes. It's an old custom 'round here to do this. How many of you were born in March?" Dorothy Hansen, Violet Franks, Tom Berda and Lois Swart all claimed they were. "Well, you are people of self-expression, creative, and possess a sense of value," he went on. They looked at him rather amazed. Pricking up their ears, Janet Vorgts and Lorraine Bergstrom listened intently for their month, January. "This month means you're cooperative, show ability as a partner, and appeal to the public." At this both girls began to chuckle, but were shushed by John Dristin and Richard Kotik. "Anyone born in July is a lucky person according to their symbol. This month stands for good business, wealth and promptness."

"Well," he said looking at his watch, "speaking of promptness, the time has passed by so fast that we'll have to get back now." Hating to see the fun over so soon, the Mt. Vernonites trudged back to the wagon. Once again with everyone well seated on the hayrack, we started back to the farm. After arriving there the boys and girls all thanked the driver for a wonderful time and left with a feeling of satisfaction.

RED CROSS IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC

On most of the islands in the South Pacific there are Red Cross rest stations. Each division that is in battle may send a small group of men to this station on their island. The men stay there for five days; and when they come back, more men go to take their places.

At these rest stations the men read books, magazines, and do many interesting things. If they need medical care, there are trained Red Cross nurses to help them. Very good food is served, and in the evening the latest movies are shown to the boys.

The Red Cross is helping the boys much; so give to this organization that they can keep up their good work.

MY BROTHER IS A PILOT

I'm going to be a flier and nothin' else will do,
My brother is a pilot and I'll be one, too.
He dives on his opponent with one great zoom and roar;
He swings around, circles, and gives 'em more and more.

Yes, my brother is a pilot, my pal in real life.
He likes it up there—flying—takes loads and loads of strife.
He's going to whip those Nazis, and then the Japs for me.
My brother Joe will lick the foe and sink their ships at sea.

I'm going to fly like brother and wear the Navy blue,
Then between myself and brother this war will soon be through.
Flying is the best of any game,
My brother is a pilot and I shall be the same.

AUSTRALIA

Most people don't know too much about Australia, except that it's the land of the "bush." No one thinks of Australia as having added anything to civilization, either. But if you stop to think, you'll find that Australia has added to the war effort and civilization, both.

A COMMON BOND

Today a group of nations is once more united by a common bond as was the group of thirteen colonies in 1776, united in a fight for freedom.

Again America finds herself against the criminal injustice of the Axis nations.

In the hearts of the English, the Russians, the Chinese, and the Americans burn the one desire for a lasting world peace, a peace only to be gained through much sacrifice and work. Our allies realize this even more than we do at present, for past experiences has taught them that our enemies have no hearts and will stop at nothing to acquire what they desire.

CHINA—THE COUNTRY OF COURAGE

China has fought for seven years against the tyrants of Japan and is a land of courage and hard work. Thousands of Chinese have been tortured and killed by the unmerciful Japanese, but they have endured all this with great courage. The children do not know what peace and happiness is, for they have lived only in the time of war and hate.

As one of the United Nations we are fighting to preserve our freedom and help gain back that of China. Because of our belief in God and in "a government of the people, for the people, and by the people" we shall win.

UNITED WE STAND

The United Nations are countries that are against the Axis. They dislike war and try their hardest to find peace. In this particular war, battles are being fought on all sides of the world. These men and women, who are from all races and creeds, valiantly fight that there may be a free world for their younger generation to live in. This war is a costly one and will need every one's cooperation. Salvaging waste paper and metal and not trading with the Black Market will bring victory closer. BURNSIDE QUERIES

One warm and balmy afternoon as I was passing Burnside, I heard a bell ring from inside, and floods of students came out. I thought I'd get their views on several things and started out by asking Marjorie Schreuder her favorie expression. She replied, "Oh, happy day!" Then along came Eloise Henderson, Margaret Kovach, Sally Hayden and Dorothy Eisner, thinking I was kidding them, for they said, "Are you kidding?" Audeau Schaffer loved to scream for "Swoonatra," and Charlotte Barnett said, "That's tough!" The most loved expression of Mary Dawe is, "Father," while John McRobert's is "Mother!" Carole Donahue and Joan Burke contended that—"That's queer," while Barbara Stricland said, "Say not so." Jean Coughlin came strolling around the corner, and she greeted me with, "Oh, you goon child."

I stepped into a doorway for a few minutes to be sheltered from the hot sun. Students kept passing me, and I asked them their ideas on sirens. First there were the timid souls—Arlene Kovach, Ed Kuzanek, Betty Samko, and Elvera Palermo—who were afraid of its loud screams. Up popped Ann Marie Hobschied and Stephanie Davison, saying they always remained perfectly calm at its sound. The more adventurous people were Lillian Benda, Donald Pearce, Mary Schaaf, Carol Warnitz and James Pringle, who wanted to find out the whys and wherefores of a blowing whistle. Della Fish and Lois Mansen said they always jump and run when it gives out a warning.

Being thirsty, I went into the building for a drink, and while there, counted the stairs from the first floor to the third. Then I returned outdoors, and waited for more victims. I asked how many stairs they thought there were. Those who guessed from fifty to seventy-five are Bob Sawyers, Wally Busch, Irene Szabo, Joseph Wyatt and Joan Mooney. The optimists thinking there are only forty stairs, are Delores Marten, and Dorothy Balls. Mildred Hritz, Gilbert Sartori, James Mohan, Gene Humphrey, and Chester Moss guessed eighty to one hundred stairs. Eva Nasci and Thelma Siemon said there are too many. Another group of students answered my queries, Rose Lee Bruno, Elvera Cassano and Audry Symonds, maintaining there were one hundred and four stairs. One hundred even answered Joe Burke.

I had wandered around quite a bit by now, and my head was spinning from so many answers. I was about to give up when the bell rang for the end of the tenth period. Robert Brown, who had just escaped from penalty came rushing out, grabbed me by the arm and whispered breathlessly, "I think there are three hundred and ninety stairs from the first floor to the third." I thanked him and turned, ready for home. I want to thank you for answering my many questions, and now 'bye 'til next semester. Oh—in case you're wondering, which you probably are; there are exactly eighty stairs from the first floor to the third.

THE GREAT UNITED NATIONS

The roar of cannons 'neath the setting sun,
People working to destroy the Hun,
The firing of guns in unity,
The grinding of machines for victory,
Stretching o'er the earth as a great steel chain,
To stamp our tyranny, and Hitler's reign,
Groups of people are working as a whole,
With freedom as their goal.
Freedom is the word on every patriot's lips,
To rid the world of dictatorships.
These are the United Nations,
The great United Nations.

They fight during the day, and they fight during the night
For freedom from fear, and freedom of right.
They come from the east, and they come from the west,
But they will not return till their word is at rest.
They work in harmony, with joined hands,
So that peace may rule, in so many lands.
Yes, these are the United Nations,
The great United Nations.

REALLY THE UNITED NATIONS

The subject, the United Nations, is one which brings forth a lot of comment. Are we really United Nations? Are we United Nations in spirit? One cannot truthfully say we have a common standard of living, for Chinese people certainly do not come up to our standards. Nor have we common language, customs, or religion.

We are United Nations in one fact: a firm, unshakeable faith, that we shall one day have gained a complete defeat of the axis nations. When this great day comes, we shall then be United Nations in victory, and United Nations in a continued peace.

—Roslyn Cohen, Curtis
1st Place Courier Lit. Cont.

WE ARE ALL FIGHTING

We are now in a dreadful stage of war, in which each and every person is contributing a bit. Everyone is buying bonds and stamps, and if this is not possible, he is collecting scrap to build up an armament against the axis.

All the United Nations are doing everything possible to bring this terrible war to a just end. The bold nations like Russia, China, England and many others, are fighting and will fight to the last. The poorer and smaller nations carried on to the last, even though they had no guns, tanks, and planes to fight the enemy with; they fought and are fighting the enemy with their prayers.

America, and my country, is doing everything in her power to win this war. She is sending our boys over all continents of the world to get back at the enemy; our ships on the seas also to destroy the foe, and our planes in the sky to crack back at the devils of the air.

We are all fighting, and will fight to see this menace come to a just end, so that we, and all the others may once more enjoy the peace and quiet which we formerly had.

—Mary R. Dyktou, Curtis
Hon. Ment. Courier Lit. Cont.

THIS GLOBAL CONFLICT

Because of this global conflict the United Nations were created. This was necessary since the Axis showed that its aims were world wide. At the outset the axis powers had certain definite advantages; interior positions, shorter supply lines, better-trained and better-equipped armies, and total mobilization of their people in the war effort. Contrasted to this, the United Nations, with the exception of Russia, were not prepared for an all-out struggle. England, United States, and Russia were separated by vast bodies of water, while China was virtually landlocked by the fall of Burma. All the navies were spread over the seven seas. But the United Nations had two great and definite advantages—the limitless industrial potentialities of the United States and the fact that the United Nations had but two enemies to concentrate on, while the axis have to contend with over thirty.

FOR FREEDOM AND HAPPINESS

Today as we are engaged in war we must think fully of its significance in our lives. We are fighting not alone, but supported by our allies, the United Nations. On every front there is one of them fighting, helping. In this year of 1944, we hope to have a victory at least on the European front. The British, Russians, and our other allies are all fighting for the same cause, freedom, unmarred by slavery.

Many lives are going to be lost on both sides. Both sides will have to carry on, despite the hard tears. We must carry on so that we will have freedom and happiness for many centuries to come.

Many people have asked cadets of the Fenger R.O.T.C., what the red star on the right sleeve of their uniform means. This red star signifies that the unit was an honor school in the last Federal Inspecttion. The cadets are proud of these stars because they realize that only through hard work and co-operation they can earn this honor. In order to keep Fenger at the top the commissioned officers and non-commissioned officers hold daily meetings. At these meetings, under the supervision of Sgt. Fles, our military instructor, they work out problems in drill and discuss military topics that are brought up.

In this manner we intend once more to make Fenger an honor in R.O.T.C.

LETTER GIRLS

The Letter Girls are often thought of as an athletic group only, but much of their time is spent in activities far removed from the world of sports. Some of the most important of these activities are making scrap books on sports, comics, and short stories to be given to the service men at Gardiner Hospital, and taking beginning and advanced first aid courses.

The activities of the club as a whole started out a successful semester in the form of the initiation of new members. After many trials, stunts and speeches, the new girls were ushered into the club and were givn the coveted title of a "Fenger Letter Girl." Then came the very important job of electing. After much discussion it was decided that the important job of president should be taken over by Adrianna Slager, with Jean Burton and Jeanne Miller ably assisting her as secretary and treasurer, respectively. The girls also participated in bowling parties at the Rose-Bowl; splash parties in which the girls competed in races, games and diving contests, and attended the stage play "Oklahoma." Another highlight of the semester was the lecture given by Emily Raczek Norris, former G.A.A. president and Letter Girl. The climax of the semester takes place in the form of the Mothers' Tea. At this party the deserving girls are awarded with their hard earned letters and chevrons.

One fact about this club, that few people know, is that the meetings are held in the girls' locker room in the Anderson Room. This room is for the use of members only, and no girl can ever enter this room until she has earned the one thousand required points.

As a healthful body and mind, high scholastic standing and good sportsmanship are very essential factors in obtaining a letter, you are always able to pick out a letter-holder in a crowd by her wholesome appearance, sparkling personality, and her natural ability to put people at their ease. Another proof of the scholastic and character achievements of the girls is the fact that six of the girls are members of the National Honor Society and three have been on the Phorex for seven semesters.

This semester sixteen of the girls are graduating, so come on, you point-gatherers, get your one thousand points together and help maintain our membership.

FORWARD WITH ATHLETICS

In every division room representing the G.A.A. and influencing others to be more athletic, is a G.A.A. representative whose sponsor is Mrs. Matthews. The president, secretary and treasurer are Gloria Wiersma, Betty Gray and Phyllis Orr.

The general activities and semester plans include skating, splash, bowling parties, dancing, and other forms of athletic fun. The idea of having representatives dates from 1924, under Mrs. Jessie Anderson's supervision. Progress has continued yearly and the slogan, increasing in popularity, is "Forward With Athletics."

—Gloria Christensen, 3B

G. A. A.

If you want to have tons of fun for ounces of money, just join Fenger's Girls Athletic Association. By following the program of events made up by Gloria Wiersma, president; Betty Gray, secretary, and Phyllis Orr, treasurer, any member of the fair sex can, for only one shiny dime, have a wonderful time with all of the other members.

With the various tastes of the girls in mind, the program is made up to suit the desire of any girl in Fenger. For those who like to walk, there are hikes to Ryan's Woods, Lake Calumet and Wildwoods. If you are partial to indoor sports such as ping-pong, shuffleboard, duck-pin bowling, volley ball and basketball, there are playdays for you. And for you hep cats, the program is filled with dances, a groovy band, and refreshments afterward. If there are swimming ideas in your mind, you will be taken care of nicely at one of the Freshman-Sophomore or Junior-Senior splash parties. At these parties you can receive instruction in diving, correct strokes and other forms of correct technique.

All these activities are designed not only to afford pleasure, but to develop good sportsmanship and cooperation, which one will carry throughout life.

With many thanks to Mrs. Matthews for her cooperation and guidance throughout a successful semester, we close another volume of happy thoughts and memories.

FENGER BASKETBALL

South Section basketball proved to be the best in the city this past season, with both finalists in the senior and junior divisions being South Section teams. Fenger, with Nick Podlecki as the only returning letterman, was too inexperienced for the tough competition.

This year's record for the seniors was one win against nine losses, while the juniors featured a two won and eight lost record.

Next season, however, Fenger will have all but one of the lettermen returning, giving us one of the most experienced squads in the league.

Tony Espositio, junior forward, had a banner season, scoring 107 points to place fourth in city scoring.

Five members of the senior team won the much coveted major letter for their work during the season. They were Co-Captain Charles Godshall, John DeHamer, Ray Messmaker, Barney Girote and Harry Kolovas. Three other seniors, Co-Captain Nick Podlecki, Bill Perrie and Ed Radtke, received their letters upon graduation in January.

Coach Dixon awarded seven letters to the juniors. Led by Captain Nick Macres, the junior lettermen were Bill Hummel, Al Pena, Walter Baran, Jack Maurer, Tony Esposito and Danny Schwetz. Glen Brown received a manager's letter.

SWIMMING

Swimming was the bright spot in Fenger athletics this season. The senior mermen won all of their dual meets and placed second in the Fall city meet and hope for an improved position in the Spring meet. Later they placed fifth in the State meet.

The senior lettermen, led by Co-Captains Warren De Young and Ed Sheridan, were Aurelius, Jones, Kazar, White, Barrett, Clawson, Frederick, Moline, Rust and Troy.

The junior team, pictured above, also had a good year. The lettermen were: Captain Tony Wagner, Fjeldheim, Johnson, La Fountain, Post, Florek, Gordon, Kliest, Karas and Zelinski. Manager Gayle Jones also received a letter.

A SWELL SPORT

Yes, bowling is a great pastime, promoting fair play and healthful entertainment. The boys in the Fenger Bowling League look forward to Monday afternoons when the teams play one another. The league is sponsored by Mr. Young, who keeps the records. On each of the eight teams are five players.

Don Scalleta set a record in the league with a 260 game. This semester Roy Beluscheck made a 594 high series and a 242 high game was made by Richard Panozzo.

JUNIOR MUSIC MAKERS

JUNIOR ORCHESTRA

This organization is composed of a group of students who are interested in playing musical instruments. The purpose is to get them prepared for the Senior Orchestra, a more difficult group, and with more advantages. There are about thirty-eight students in this organizattion. There is no president or other officers yet.

Mr. Trimble, head of the Junior Orchestra, hopes that more students will join in order to make it a success. Come on students, show your talent.

MUSICAL NOTES

The Senior Orchestra this semester under Mr. Trimble's baton is planning to have assemblies, concerts, and shows. We're going to have an assembly so we can award letters to those who have played three semesters. We're going to have concerts so we can compete with other schools. To raise a little money, we are giving various parties. During the week we practice and sometimes stay one night after school. The officers are Joe Burda, president; Elsie Bortolami, treasurer, and Elaine Horvath, secretary.

The desire of journalism students is to make the Quill and Scroll, an International Honor Society of which Fenger has had a chapter since 1934. To qualify, a student produces 200 inches of printed copy in two semesters on the News staff. The student in the upper third of his class submits samples of his work to national judges for approval.

At present the society has eight members, but this June expects the largest group ever to enter.

PRINCE CHARMING AND CINDERELLA

Wouldn't you like to become a Prince Charming or a Cinderella? I don't mean for you to sit among cinders or go out and fight duels, but I do mean for you to join the Drama Club. Possibly you may become a star over night.

The Drama Club has always produced wonderful plays and has had many good actors and actresses. Miss Lois Conner for the last fourteen years has held the office of sponsor. She trains her people very well, and teaches them tactics of the stage and screen. So, come on, Prince Charmings and Cinderellas, let's see what you can do.

THE PHOREX CLUB

To be in this club, under Mrs. Hoffman's sponsorship, a student must maintain an E or S grade in his majors and a G or above in his minors. Each semester the pupils who can live up to those standards have the honor of wearing a Phorex pin. The boy or girl returns the pin at the end of each semester, unless he has earned the pin seven semesters. If he has, he will be given a new pin which will be his to keep.

KEEPERS OF THE HALLS

Who are they? What do they do? They are the Marshals of our city—these boys who maintain order in the halls.

The Marshals were organized in February, 1944, under the sponsorship of Mr. Brown. The student head of the organization is Colonel Michalik, assisted by Lieutenant-Colonel Robert Selke. Also assisting Michalik are nine period Majors and a publicity Major. During a period a Major has charge of the building and assisting him are one lieutenant, one sergeant and a corporal for each floor, besides the regular marshals. During this period a captain and the staff lieutenant remain in Room 143 to assist the major.

The Marshal system, in addition to keeping the halls clear of all disturbances, is proving to be a very efficient school of citizenship and leadership in that it delegates authority to those few who are willing to assume the responsibility. At present this authority has been extended to cover the halls and lunch room, but in the future it is expected that the Marshals will undertake to lead the school in more ways.

Since for these Marshals it's not "all work and no play," there are social affairs also. Their purpose is to keep up the fine reputation of Fenger and to keep the building in good order.

At this time the members buy, sell, or trade stamps, participate in stamp games or strive to earn their club letter. They have many social activities which are enjoyed by all.

"FOUR NINES EQUAL ONE HUNDRED"

It seems impossible, but it's true. If you don't believe it, go to a meeting of the Math Club. That and other similar problems they puzzle over Tuesdays, tenth period.

Organized seventeen years ago by Miss Kurtz, it has had many sponsors, and is now directed by

BUSY BEES

Yes, busy bees. That's what the Courier representatives are when Fenger's book time rolls around. When Couriers are distributed to each division representative, there is plenty of excitement and hubbub.

Representatives are selected in each division room, and it is his or her duty to encourage sales and collect payments for the book. Early in the semester, part of the work is to urge the students to have their pictures in the Courier. Occasionally representatives feel like murdering pupils who don't pay on time; but it's all in a day's work, and they really do a fine job.

LOOKING AHEAD

Yes, it's not only rendering a service to your school, but it's starting your career as a secretary. How? By doing clerical work for teachers or in the offices. This group, headed by Miss Kay, is not a club but a class of senior girls having had one semester of office practice and a second semes-

THE ALL SCHOOL COUNCIL

The All School Council, formerly a group of room presidents, when fully organized will be composed of a delegate chosen from each semester (Seven in all) and a representative from every school activitv. such as Fenger News, Courier, B.A.A., G.A.A., Student Marshals, R.O.T.C., Phorex, National Honor Society, and other groups. The All School Council will meet with the school sponsor, Mr. Dean, during selected long division periods. Joseph Burda, the 4A Class President, and Ledyard Smith, the 3A Class President, serve as the president and vice-president of the All School Council.

BOOKS AND STAMPS REPRESENTATIVES

These students are to be congratulated on their hard work and excellent results. They are doing a real war service.

—Kenneth Dean

Fenger's electricity bill is about $900 a month.

There are twelve high schools as large or larger than Fenger.

Fenger has one of the four largest swimming pools in the city.

Dr. Christian Fenger was an outstanding surgeon in Europe, and then came to our country and became one of the leading surgeons here.

FENGER JAM CLUB

If all you cats haven't dug this crew of Fenger gates yet, get ready to be knocked in the groove with some fine deals when you collar them.

Many of the Jam Club members are surely headed for professional fame in the world of swing. The Club's theme is the traditional one, "When It's Darkness on the Delta". Mr. Trimble, the sponsor, faithfully holds the musicians to the exact notes as they are written; but when the music calls for "solo ad-lib," the gates get their chance to "JAM"!

TRI-HI-Y NEWS

This chatter you hear about the Fenger Tri-Hi-Ys is plenty potent. They are very active groups and follow the purpose of "Creating, maintaining and extending throughout our school and community high standards of Christian character."

The four Tri-Hi-Y's, Alpha, Beta, Gamma, and Delta, have enjoyed this last semester watching their new "cuties" being initiated into the several groups and by having interesting meetings, dances, and parties planned by their selected presidents, Margaret Mulé, Alpha; Rita McGrath, Beta; Dolores Napoli, Gamma; Jackie Price, Delta, and their other officers.

—Norma Veenstra, 3B

BLACKOUT ? ? ? ?

What? Why is it so dark? Could it be a blackout? No, it's just the reelman preparing to show movies for a class at Fenger.

The twenty-five members are supervised by Mr. Garlick, with Roger Martire as manager; Robert Fleith, assistant manager; Frank Olsen, secretary; John Lux, maintenance, and Richard Carlasio, film inspector.

Because these reelmen successfully operate the machines, receive and return films to downtown headquarters, it is possible for us to benefit by the movies in our classes.

—Edith Peterson, 3B

HI-Y's OF FENGER

Today in Fenger there are six Hi-Y's — the Vikings, Craigs, Spartans, Williams, Stags and Trojans. The Vikings meet on Monday at 7:30; the Craigs meet on Thursday at 7:30; Spartans, Tuesday, 7:30; Williams, Monday at 7:30, and every other week at somebody's house; Stags, Wednesday at 8:00, and the Trojans, Tuesday at 8:00. Each one of these clubs stands for goodfellowship, clean living, fun, sports, and playing games squarely with the world.

YOUTH in his Physical, Mental, Moral and Spiritual Development is Our Vital Concern.

THAT it should learn firsthand all school conditions and town conditions affecting the child.

THAT a parent-teacher association should be concerned with all problems that relate to the welfare of the child, in home, school, and community.

Compliments of the

Fenger Parent-Teachers'

Association

THAT its great object should be to interest all people in all children and to link in common purpose the home, the school, and all other educative forces in the life of the child, to work for his highest good.

THAT it should work actively to supply the school and community needs by creating a public sentiment which shall favor and provide good teachers, good school equipment, and adequate recreation for leisure time.

THAT it should not be a means of entertainment, or charity, or criticism of school authority, but a cooperative, nonpolitical, noncommercial effort to produce American citizens who shall be strong in body, alert in mind, and sound in character, capable of perpetuating the best which has been developed in our national life.

WE BELIEVE THAT the principles which guide the parent-teacher association are the embodiment of social service, civic virtue, and patriotism.

IF YOU BELIEVE in OUR CREED, we invite you to join our association.

"AUSTRALIA" from Page 69

Taking civilization first, think of the great contribution Sister Elizabeth Kenny made. She was a native Australian, just 23, when she developed a treatment for Infantile Paralysis. That is only one thing that could be mentioned. For the war effort, Australia is just one of the many nations working together with by sending her brave sons into battle. This is another reason why we cannot fail.

SONG OF THE ALLIED NATIONS

Allied Nations rolling along,
Allied Nations fighting wrong.
Allied Nations thirty strong,
Allied Nations sing this song!

Rolling, sailing, flying on ahead,
Till our last foes fall, dead.
There's a victory we've got to get,
We'll get it, we'll get it yet.
Those slant-eyed guys will Never live to see
Their world-dream come true,
Believe you me!
Across the pond, the fighting's tough,
We'll make 'em yell when they've

Had enough!
Many will be lost, many will be slain,
But we'll make sure they won't
Have died in vain!

In homes there is an emptiness
That just cannot be filled,
For those by any stars of blue on white,

The day we end this fight?

WE, THE UNITED NATIONS

United we stand; divided we fall,
This should be heeded by nations, all,
For banded together we can resist force,
And follow the straight and given course.
Two nations united are better than one,
Free nations together are second to none.
We're nations working hand in hand,
Linked together, one forceful band.
Though we have our moments when things go wrong,
Our determination remains mighty strong.
Toward victory we're driving,
For peace supreme we are striving.
We, the United Nations.

A Tip to You for '44

HOW TO KEEP A GOOD CAR GOOD

RIGHT NOW we are interested in your car because we know and you know that for the present "war production comes ahead of replacements." Meanwhile, we furnish quality parts, maintain an expert servicing staff, and have the best completely equipped shop in your community. We wish to work with you to keep your car fit and efficient, to the end that the country's existing supply of automobile transportation will be sufficient to see us through to the day of final victory.

Roseland Community Hospital

SCHOOL OF NURSING

111TH STREET AND PERRY AVENUE, CHICAGO

Pullman 7800

The Roseland Community Hospital School of Nursing was established in 1924. The School is accredited by the Illinois State Board of Nurse Examiners and has affiliation with Cook County Hospital, Chicago, Illinois, in psychiatric nursing, communicable disease and pediatrics.

The Roseland Community Hospital, of which the School is a part, is a member of the American Hospital Association, The American College of Surgeons and the American Medical Association.

The Nursing School prepares young women through their training to meet the ever-increasing demands made upon the Professional Nurse of today; it maintains a high morale by a broad program of extra curricular activities, and graduates of the Roseland Community Hospital School of Nursing are eligible for membership in the Red Cross Nursing Service and the American Nurses Association.

Our country has greater need than ever before for competent well trained nurses, in the military service to care for the health of our fighting men and on the home front to care for the health of its citizens to maintain the health of the nation. The fields for service, achievement and interesting employment are many.

Roseland Community Hospital admits classes in September and February of each year. Students may register either as members of the U. S. Cadet Corp or as regular students.

the good old American way of having a Christmas tree. The strange habits the South Americans have in eating seemed the hardest thing for Bernard Slingerland, Mary Melia, Spiros Varellas, Joan Du Jardin, Dorothy Hackenson, Eugene Remington, Carol Boersma, Mary Lou Evans and Loretta Gall to get used to. To Lorraine Walson, Corinne Ladwein, Margaret Adams, Joe Portscheller and Norine Serig it would be hard to learn the South American dances. "The uneasy rhythm of a burro is hard on the constitution," said Carol Pedersen. A permanent headache is what Elyse Bertolone and Shirley Dick were afraid they might contract if they had to carry big baskets on their heads. Hal Madsen would hesitate to serenade a senorita under her balcony for fear her papa would throw water on him. Sam Presta and Renetta Lehman might become tongue-tied singing those catchy tunes. Barbara Evans and Audre Apalon said bull fighting was out as far as they were concerned. "The South American language and accent would be hard to get used to," said Jerlean Curry.

the President make the customary speech and to place a wreath on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. In the front row of the assemblage sat an old man and woman who had come from the hills of Kentucky; they had come as they had done for each ceremony for twenty years to hear again the speech honoring our soldiers. They believed that the Unknown Soldier was their son, who had not come back from the World War I.

Each year they had been drawn toward Washington because they felt that they had to see the ceremony. Back in August, 1917, after going overseas, their boy had gone to a fortune teller, who told him that he would be killed in action for doing a hero's deed, but would not be decorated for bravery because no one else would know of this act. The young man wrote this home and added that the fortune teller predicted that he would have a very exquisite monument over his grave. Believing their son had been killed in action, for they never heard what became of him, they felt a gentle presence in their hearts telling them that the Unknown Soldier was their son.

Fenger Fads, ye gods!
Those bobby socks
Are sure great shocks,
And O those sweaters
Are sure go-getters.

Those flanner shirts,
As long as skirts,
Say nothing of those baggy slacks
Which some girls wear like gunny sacks.

Boy, these hair styles they turn out
Would put anyone in doubt;
And when the pigtails appear
You know the swimming days are here.

a good soaking. Mechanical drawing is the favorite of Rudolph Olsar and Wayne Cooper. Virginia Sprietsma, Robert Fogle and Shirley Silven like to draw and, of course, they think art is super. Emily Gonska and Pat Pavlish want to make a career of art. Too, Pat Schneider thinks it's great sport to "slop" paint on paper. Jack Sugrue has it soft in English, but he thinks science is more interesting. Music has its appeal to Margaret Bonfeldt and Joan Strumberg. Geometry is especially liked by Berna Mae Westerdahl, Virginia Samarjian, Thomas Owens and Tom Briggs, while Evert Tracy prefers algebra. Some of the mechanically minded among the boys—Robert Murphy, Stanley Mastet, Hugh Kranenberg, Joe Ollearis and Louis Da Corte—are supporters of shop work. Caryl Waller, Robert Kossan and Beverly Bergman are three who particularly like biology. Phyllis Lindell enjoys the story of ages gone and has stated her perefernce as history.

In this "jive" age there are many queer expressions which have been brought up, and Marshall Viren would probably say that those 2B's who have a knack for studies are "droolin' in schoolin'." If Naomi Powis met somebody "on the loose" she would "give" with "Hi! Sugar, are you rationed?" or Betty Baker might state "a zoot suiter from a way back." When it comes to a "jive session," we are likely to hear "Let's kick, Chick," "Hey! Squirrel, wanta twirl?" "Let's dig it" or "Let's cut a rug, bug?" from Angelo De Sabo, Rich Kubis, Barbara Beck, Lucy Hankosky, Howard Mulford, John Herbert, Robert Korpas or Catherine Mezev, who think these expressions are really "solid senders." Jeanette Bradley, June Tor or Margaret Richardson might sling back "but definitely!", "that's for sure" or "are you kidding?". Really, to get in the groove, Shirley Komar or Bob Kunis send 'em with "Let's get hep," or "Swing it, Jackson!" When it comes time to "put it on ice," Maralyn Hausman, Wilma Henderson and Helen Kulig would leave with "Let's make like a boid."

The traditional picnic rain clouds are beginning to gather, and to keep dry we must scatter to find shelter and give up our picnic and our interesting chatter.

—Relbue Powers, 4A Interview Editor.

to the ground. It is time once again to pack those clothes of yours into your duffle bag, along with some of your Mom's homemade cookies to take back with you to camp for those nights that seem ever so long. After last minute good-byes are said, you close that front door—which you used to slam —ever so gently. The closing of this door leaves you with a strange and stunned feeling, for possibly this will be the last time you'll ever close this door,—at least it will be for quite a while.

if it will help any, you can go up a few thousand feet higher. Just as you reach your position above the other two planes, there is a blinding explosion, you see the two planes plastered against the side of a mountain, burning fiercely. Luck? Maybe, you say. Well, just supply some other instances for yourself, or read the papers, which are full of such incidents and then try to say that there is no such thing as luck.

promptness, that's all the teacher used to drive into me, but I, the superior one, thought it did not pertain to me. I never listened. I'll pay more attetion to her from now on. Well, anyway, it was seven-fifty-nine as I slid into the chair and snapped on the radio with one hand taking off my coat with the other. Turning the dial to WBBM and heaving a big sigh, I heard the announcer say, "And here is Frank Sinatra."

I have learned my lesson of promptness! Look what I would have missed if I had been late!

Perhaps the most interesting question was the one Barbara Hogberg asked the club to discuss: "What hero or heroine, which you have read about in a novel, seemed to have the same characteristics as you possess?" Barbara and Carol Emmons claimed they are similar to Judy in Junior Miss. Oliver Trook pointed out that he resembles the Sea Hawk. Margaret Miller believed she was a second Anne of Green Gables, because they were both scatter-brained. As for Bonnie Powell, she doubles for Jo of Little Women. "People think I am like Smithy in Random Harvest as we are both cracked," testified Wesley Kerkla. Florence Fauser couldn't remember any characters similar to her in any novel she has read. Dan Schwetz could only think of comic characters. "I think I resemble Rebecca in the novel of the same name," replied Geraldine Golomb. Miriam Erickson, Carol Anderson, and Pete Dararara thought they could be anyone good looking. Conrad Minkowski and Ed Potaczek admire Jimmy Doolittle and stories about his adventures.

The club voted unanimously to accept all these questions as good topics for discussion, but decided they had better adjourn the meeting before they exhausted these subjects.
